Note: In order for the document issued in foreign country to be valid in Vietnam, the documents presented have to be original or notarized, legalized and authenticated copy and translated into Vietnamese in accordance with Vietnam laws.

The contents of the petition must be presented in full, brief, clear, and in logic. The plaintiff should provide all documents, and evidence to prove the merit of the claim including contract, purchase order, separate terms and conditions, appendixes (if any), minutes of meetings of negotiations, invoices, delivery proof, legal status of plaintiff and defendant, documents to determine the legal status of the representative of the plaintiff such as appointment decision, power of attorney.

However, considering to file a lawsuit against the other at a court should be the last choice for parties. Because the trial procedure always take a lot of time and money before gaining one of parties purpose.

Apolo Lawyers will support you drafting a lawsuit petition, give legal advice and carry out related procedures. Apolo Lawyers just participates in the civil procedure if request.
